Chlorine & Salt Water may cause slight variation to color; just as it can to natural hair.

- Always use leave-in conditioner BEFORE entering the pool.
- Wash hair after exposure to water
- Never leave attachments wet with chlorine or salt water

Well water can cause damage to both natural hair and extensions because it contains a multitude of minerals and chemicals. Variations in the PH in the water used to clean hair may also cause a slight variation of color, texture, and quality.

Do not sleep in wet hair; always blow dry attachments thoroughly.

Use moderate heat when using flat irons and other styling tools. Regular use at a high temperature can damage natural and extension hair.
